The Human Experience: Life as We (Don't Really) Know It Elizabeth Crooks

We are souls having a human experience. Earth is simply a game. Earth is just a story we've created and are reenacting like a play on a theatre stage. When we are done playing this game, when we are done with the story, we move onto a new one.

The first thing to remember is that we chose the human experience. We chose the game, and we agreed to the rules. In fact, we wanted to come here so bad that there is a waiting list to get onto the Earth at this time! Many souls desire to jump onto this ship we call Earth, especially at this time of ascension and shift in consciousness. This is a unique opportunity to experience physical ascension alongside a planetary ascension, and so if you are reading this right now you are one of the luckiest souls to have this experience at this time.

So why don't we remember that we are playing a game when we arrive? Because those are the rules we agreed to. We chose to experience density, which gives us a sort of amnesia as we are immersed fully into the illusion of life as a human. If you knew you were playing a game, would you even want to play after all you have been through? That is why the veils are in place, so we can fully experience and grow from our lives in a human body without the knowledge that we are more than human.

Use this book as a tool in discovering your purpose and getting the most out of your journey here on planet Earth. Everything is a learning experience. We are here to play, so play the game you want to play, and play it well!
