“It is double pleasure to deceive the deceiver.”

Niccolo Machiavelli

The end of the second Project Lullaby is creeping closer as Ava finds herself cloaked as a lion in the lion’s den. While those around her see her as a needed factor to ensure their success, she works diligently to destroy it from the inside. Everything is going seemingly well until Jory show up on his own volition to help, his presence risking Ava’s cover as Dr. Laura Pearson.

Trying to cope in a future without Sherrie, Sizer has taken over the foster home and finds that she’s become even more domesticated because of the thorn in her plans. As a new mother to several foster kids and the lead of the conspiracy on the outside, she experiences a rush of responsibility crushing her life.

While Sizer deals with her new life, Ava discovers that her feelings for Jory never dissipated and her emotions threaten to crumble her hopes of getting the kids out of the facility before irreparable damage is done. Little do the women know, a new threat has been lurking in the shadows, waiting for the worst possible moment to pounce.
